MY LETTER OF INTENT

The British Royal Family: “Never complain. Never explain.”

I've always loved Harvard's motto, Veritas.

Look: I'm in business to make money. I Love The Money. And in my point of view, I Love The Money.com is self-explanatory.

Now and then a smart entrepreneur establishes a new great company. This is the case.

I am not Bill Gates; I could be his son. I am not Steve Jobs; I could be his son. I am not Vladimir Putin; I could be his son.

But I am Achille Zibi the founder of I Love The Money. Everybody knows that I Love New York City. Money can stand as a metaphor for what you love.

We will build a great Company, hire some brilliant people, and create many jobs. We will make a meaningful and positive contribution to the world. We will make history.

Please don't ask me to explain why The I Love The Money Company is so valuable. Let's just agree that I Love The Money.com is priceless. I am being nice by setting the Company Valuation price at 150'000'000'000 one hundred and fifty Billion Swiss Francs. And CHF 10.- per share is a very generous offer.

And why should you buy some of my shares, right ? You will find your own answers. But I will say:

You like this brand, ILoveTheMoney.com. You think that it's beautiful, special, and precious. You see its potential. And you want to own a piece of it. So you can shape it. Make it yours before it's too late.
